++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Much colder with snow showers mainly in the north.

Today:
A very cold day. Some sunshine, the best of this in the south. Snow showers mainly affecting northern Scotland with just the odd one further south. Severe gales Northern Isles, with storms and blizzards first thing over Shetland.

Tonight:
Clear intervals and further snow showers, more frequent over northern areas and giving some fresh accumulations even to low levels.

Tuesday:
Another day of sunny intervals and occasional wintry showers of hail or snow. Further accumulations on hills but generally melting on roads by day in the sunshine in between.

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Sunny spells and isolated wintry showers Wednesday, then rain preceded by snow in evening. More rain overnight and Thursday morning then bright and showery. Colder with wintry showers on Friday.
